

Extension underway at KMF

 With turnover continuing to grow at Newcastle-under-Lyme KMF (Precision Sheet Metal), the next phase of the company's expansion strategy is underway via an extension to its main manufacturing facility.

With planning permission approved, KMF has commenced work on a further extension to its existing 100,000 sq ft production facility. Expected to be complete later this year, the 8400 sq ft extension will house almost

£1.5m of laser processing and automation systems in order to meet increasing demand for precision sheet metal components and integrated assemblies.
